Separation of Religion or Belief and State - SOROBAS is a term used by The Tandem Project to express the core principles of international human rights law on freedom of religion or belief.

Separation of Religion or Belief and State – SOROBAS brings separation of church and state, separation of synagogue and state, separation of mosque and state, separation of temple and state, and separation of other religious and non-religious beliefs and state together under an umbrella term of respect for each other and international human rights law on freedom of religion or belief.

Separation of Religion or Belief and State - SOROBAS will create opportunities for inclusive and genuine human rights dialogue and education where the state is not separate from religion or belief.
